Warming up – Check your knowledge

1a. Listen carefully to these songs because we’ll talk about them together.
   a. Pink Floyd - Dark side of the moon
   b. Dire Straits - Tunnel of love
   c. Lionel Richie - All night long
   d. The London Symphony Orchestra - Thriller (Jackson cover)
   e. Johann Sebastian Bach - Toccata and fugue in D minor, BWV 565

1b. Let’s now reflect on the songs you have just listened to.
   1. Do you know these songs?
   2. Can you hear that these pieces belong to different music genres? Do you recognise any of them?
   3. Can you identify any musical instruments?
   4. Which of these songs or pieces do you prefer? Why? For the rhythm? For the musical instruments used? For the emotions they aroused?
   5. Of all the pieces you listened to, do you think any have got pop music? Jazz? Blues? Symphony music? Rock? If so, which?

Task. Sounds from the orchestra: the instruments

2a. Oral activity. Pay attention to these new words related to the main musical instruments: Trumpet, Violin, Harp, Piano, Drum or Bass Drum, Clarinet, Flute, Horn, Trombone, Tuba, Triangle, Cymbals. Look at the pictures of these instruments.
2b. Listening activity. Now look for the Disney cartoon Toot whistle plunk and boom and pay attention to the traditional classification that divides musical instruments into four basic types: brass, woodwinds, strings, and percussion.

2c. Matching activity. Try to match each instrument with its family.

| Brass    |
| Strings  |
| Percussion |
| Woodwinds |

2d. Build up your vocabulary. From now until the end of CLIL module, write in your notebooks a glossary followed by example sentences with the new words and adjectives.

Vocabulary:
Orchestra, Woodwinds, Brass, Percussion, Band, Horn, Brasshorn, Reed pipe, Strings, Rod, Blow, Trumpet, Violin, Harp, Piano, Drum or Bass Drum, Clarinet, Flute, Trombone, Tuba, Triangle, Cymbals.

Task. Musical instruments

2a. Group work – The teacher divides the class into five groups. Each group reads a brief description of this classification: group 1: Idiophones; group 2: Membranophones; group 3: Chordophones; group 4: Aerophones; group 5: Electrophones.

Hornbostel and Sachs invented a system to classify all musical instruments and now this is the system of musical instrument classification used today. The Hornbostel-Sachs system identifies five categories of instruments: Aerophones, Chordophones, Idiophones, Membranophones, Electrophones.

Aerophones: produce a sound by the vibration of air. The two main families of aerophones are woodwind and brass instruments.

Chordophones are part of the string instruments family.

Electrophones are the newest category of instruments. Electrophones produce an electronic sound. The two main families of electrophones are electronic instruments and amplified acoustical instruments.

Membranophones: produce sound when a stretched skin (membrane) vibrates. Different materials can be used to make membranophone instruments, including wood, metal, or ceramics.

Idiophones: produce a sound by the vibration of the actual instrument itself. This category belongs to the percussion family.

2b. Group work – Find two instruments for each family and write a brief description of each instrument using the words and the adjectives below.

- Produce sound by the vibrating of strings.
- To make the sounds: pluck, bow or strike the strings.
- This is done by a pick, bow or the musician’s hand.

- Amplified acoustical instruments.
• May have definite or indefinite pitch.
• Different materials can be used to make membranophones, including wood, metal, or ceramics.

• Use air and the lips to vibrate.
• Some keyboard instruments also use air as

• Can be struck, rubbed, shaken or plucked.

2c. Group work – Guessing game: guess the name of one of the instrument families proposed by the other groups with its specific description.

Task. Make a cartoon story

3. Create a storytelling. In five groups invent a story to describe the musical instruments as in the Disney Cartoon Video. Use the vocabulary you have learned so far.
Homework

4. Create a digital story with one of the two following software.

a. Cartoon Story Maker:

b. Storyboard:
   www.storyboardthat.com/storyboard-creator

These two programmes are very simple to use. Alternatively you can prepare a PowerPoint presentation.
